ART WORKS

These art prints part of the 2018 African Crown Collection whose purpose was to celebrate and bring to life the beauty & majesty of African tribal hairstyles within the continent of Africa. The forms & lines of these prints are inspired by the sculptural forms of traditional hairstyles from the continent in the 1900s from the Fula & Mangbetu tribes to the fan-shaped hairstyle of Queen Nasara and elongated and halo shaped hairstyle of Queen Nenzima in the Congo.

The prints are printed on Matt canvas and framed inhouse using reclaimed timber from our timber offcuts from our processes.

NENZIMA BLANKET

The Nenzima blanket was designed by South African furniture and product design studio; THEURBANATIVE in collaboration with SMTNG GOOD STUDIO. As part of the African crowns collection whose work is inspired by traditional African tribal hairstyles specifically in the women of those tribe; the overall lines and forms of the blanket's artwork are inspired by the distinctive look of the elongated heads of most Mangbetu women in early 20th century history.

Along with the elongated head, the hairstyles accompanying the Mangbetu women's overall coiffure's was an oval or funnel-shaped updo's finished off with an outward halo, originally symbolic of high social status, this was considered exceptionally attractive and powerful.

NASARA & FULANI VESSELS

The Nasara & Fulani vessels is named after & inspired in their forms by their namesake the Nasara & Fulani artworks. The sweeping lines and organic forms/shapes of these pieces are inspired by African Crowns/ hairstyles during the early 1900s.

In an aim to reuse byproducts of our carpentry process, these vessels are made from found and off-cut timber pieces and glass (lab quality) test tubes. Each piece is unique and never the same due to the nature of the raw materials used. These pieces fit perfectly to form part of the 2018 African Crowns Collection which is an ode to the sculptural details of not just most African cultural hairstyles. As a set of 3 /5 these pieces can be combined to fit seamlessly together but also work as individual pieces.
